OFFICIAL TRAVEL GUIDE

GETCONNECTED. STAYCONNECTED

Throughout your copy of GO | GREAT LAKES BAY, the Official Travel Guide of Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, you'll find symbols that look a lot like this.

Consider them your own personal tour guide to the world of Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region ONLINE!

WHAT IS IT?

They say good things come in small packages. This triy box is no exception. It's called a QR Code, and it's your gateway to discovering all the best-kept secrets of Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region! A QR Code is a bar code, readable by smartphones. When equipped with the proper reader application, your smartphone can scan the image of the QR Code and connect you instantly to more information on the web!

HOW DO I USE IT?

- Download a FREE application from Scanlife, Kaywa, Upcode, or another QR Reader application available for your phone.
- 2 Use the installed application to scan the QR Code by holding the camera still and in the center of the QR code until the image comes into focus. A message will indicate that the image capture was successful.
- 3 Sit back and relax as the QR code instantly connects you to to additional web content on the feature you are reading!

We choose where to live, where to work, what to make for dinner. But the most important choice of all is how we choose to spend time with the ones we love. Spend time in a place where that choice is simple. A place where six unique visitor destinations come together to form a region exploding with beauty, culture, and adventures unknown. Welcome to Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region.

Feel the wind in your sails. Savor the flavors of exotic fusion cuisine. Reach for the stars at our 360 Degree Experience Planetarium.

All this and more is docked and waiting for you in picturesque Bay City, where a rich maritime legacy and a unique flair for great shopping and dining make for the perfect escape into waters unknown.

Originally surrounded by forests and marshlands, early Bay City residents had little choice but to travel by water. From the construction of the first shipyard along the banks of the Saginaw River in 1856, Bay City developed into a burgeoning center for the shipbuilding industry. Today, Bay City is an undeniably charming riverfront community filled with fine architecture, historic districts, one-of-a-kind boutiques, and the kind of cuisine that will leave your taste buds begging for more.

Indulge in the excitement of a sailing dinner cruise on the Appledore or Princess Wenonah, blast off for an out-of-this-world 360 degree experience at Defta College Planetarium, or shop Michigan's largest antique mart, Bay Antique Center. No matter how you choose to see it, Bay City offers a beautiful view of life.

Shoppers raiding the racks at the Midwest's largest outlet mall. Cars racing down the Dixie Motor Speedway. Gear up for fast-paced fun in Birch Run!

As the gateway to Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, Birch Run is a center for exciting attractions. Easily accessible by I-75 and only 10 minutes from Frankenmuth, one of Michigan's top tourism destinations, Birch Run is the perfect place to shop, stay, and play.

Birch Run is best known as the home of the Midwest's largest outlet mall, Birch Run Premium Outlets. With over 145 name-brand outlet stores, all at savings of up to 65%, Birch Run Premium Outlets is the perfect outing for bargain hunters and one-stop shoppers alike.

After finding styles fresh off the runway, race to Dixie Motor Speedway to experience the thrill of every twist and turn around the track. Alpine Mountain also offers an adventure park, featuring mini-golf, bumper boats, gocarts, and other action-packed activities. Both adults and children will discover the magic of coming face-to-face with exotic animals at Wilderness Trails Zoo. The Birch Run Expo Center also hosts great events throughout the year, from Shipshewana on the Road to motorcycle and car shows!

Where you can find new meaning in old treasures, and tradition always has a special twist.

Chesaning, Michigan. Showboat City, USA. Regardless of the name, the legacy remains the same. It's a place where you'll discover that big city traditions can still have small town heart. Where days spent picnicking in the park and rowing downstream can replace the hustle of everyday life.

So, go ahead. Lose track of time. Stroll down our picturesque boulevard. Take home a one-of-a-kind treasure from our art fairs and town-wide attic sales.

Get away for the weekend with a crop and quilting retreat at one of our charming Bed & Breakfasts.

Watch this quaint village come to life each July as one of Michigan's oldest festivals, the Chesaning Showboat Music Festival, takes to the river for a week of great entertainment, including popular performing artists, a parade, a wine and cheese tasting event, and even a classic car crusie.

In Chesaning, a town so full of charm and warmth you can almost taste it, every tradition is remembered, and every care can be forgotten.

If you've been thinking of a place where Christmas stores are the size of football fields and chicken dinners are nothing less than world-famous, you're not dreaming...you're in Frankenmuth.

Known as Michigan's Little Bavaria, Frankenmuth has a reputation for rolling out the giant German welcome mat to millions of guests each year. With America's largest family-owned restaurant, Zehnder's, the world's largest CHRISTmas Store, Bronner's, and countless other outstanding attractions, it's no wonder Frankenmuth's unparalleled Bavarian charm keeps visitors coming back again and again.

Discover the secrets of Frankenmuth's historic mills and museums, browse over 40 unique shops at Frankenmuth Riverplace, or lace up your dirndl and lederhosen for a fun-filled day at one of Frankenmuth's many traditional German festivals.

A few of Frankenmuth's most popular events are the Bavarian Festival, rated one of Michigan's Top 5 Festivals by AAA's Michigan Living Magazine, and Oktoberfest, the only Oktoberfest celebration outside of Germany officially sanctioned by the City of Munich.

OUTSIDE THE LINES

Experience the unknown. Find relaxation in creativity. Cross borders of countries, break down language barriers, and soak up the unique culture of another place and time. In Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, you can encounter a whole new world without ever leaving ours.

We're home to historic vaudeville theatres, one of the most authentic Japanese Tea Houses in all of North America, and countless galleries and exhibits where it's okay to discover that life is bold, brilliant, and sometimes a little out there...

Center Sights

On a place where art & culture collide to bring the best artists, performances, and wonders of the world all to one brilliant stage

Midland Center for the Arts

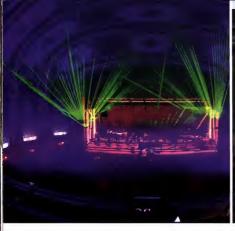

Center your sights on culture in all its forms at Midland Center for the Arts. It's a magical place in our community, creating wonder, inspiring learning, and opening new worlds.

With a 1,500-seat auditorium, a 400-seat theatre, art galleries, a hands-on science museum, and a historical museum, it's easy to see why MCFTA is a multifaceted jewel in our community! Dazzling performers, brilliant lecturers, classes where education and inspiration intertwine, and exceptional exhibits make MCFTA a vital asset for our region and beyond.

MCFTA is home to Alden B. Dow Museum of Science & Art, Midland Symphony Orchestra, MATRIX: Midland, Center Stage Theatre, Music Society, and Midland County Historical Society, providing creative programming year-round.

MCFTA means many things to many people: a champion for active participation in the arts, an opportunity to speak the universal language of creativity, and a place where global culture and community charm come together, opening a whole new world of experiences. Visit MCFTA to find out what it will mean to you!

Temple Theatre

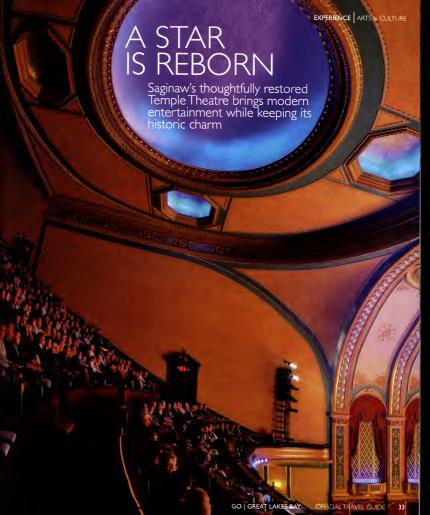

Often referred to as "The Showplace of Northeastern Michigan," Saginaw's own Temple Theatre is a true gem in the arts and culture community of Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region. From its early beginnings in 1927 as a vaudeville and silent film house, the Temple Theatre has grown into a versatile entertainment venue, while preserving the opulence and historical details that make it truly one-of-a-kind.

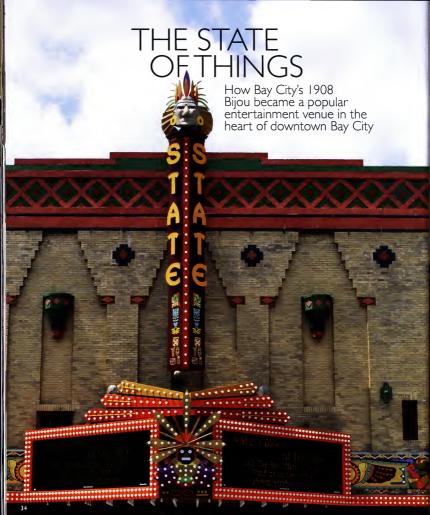

One such detail the Temple Theatre has preserved is its Barton Pipe Organ. The organ, one of only twelve organs built for the Butterfield Theatre Circuit, was used to perform elaborate organ ensembles before film screenings in the Theatre's early days. Today, the Temple Theatre's Barton Organ remains the only original, fully-functional organ of the twelve.

In 2002, the possibilties for the Temple Theatre's timeless structure were reimagined with an extensive restoration process that modernized the Theatre's capabilities while maintaining the initial beauty and integrity of the venue.

With its ornate, authentic details restored, the Temple Theatre continues to be an entertainment hotspot within the region. Aside from hosting concerts, films, and live performances, the Theatre also serves as a unique, alternative meeting venue for conventions, receptions, and other events.

Bay City State Theatre

Once a vaudeville and burlesque house known as the Bijou, the State Theatre is treasured today as both a historical building and popular venue for live entertainment.

Built in 1908 during the booming lumbering era, the Theatre was renovated in 1930 by renowned architect C. Howard Crane, whose impressive work includes the twin Fox Theatres in Detroit and St. Louis, Missouri. Crane re-crafted the Bay City State Theatre to resemble a Mayan Temple, adding the art-deco influences gave the theatre much of the warmth and charm that still exists within its walls today.

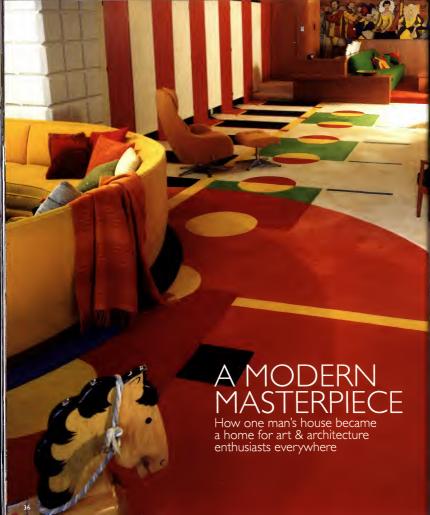

Used to enrich arts and cultural opportunities for the Great Lakes Bay Region, the Bay City State Theatre presents live events, performances, and family and educational programming. The Theatre also plays host to the Bijou Orchestra, a professional orchestra playing everything from classical music and opera to ragtime and rock'n roll.

Alden B. Dow Home & Studio

Alden B. Dow Home & Studio is not just any old house. For over 75 years, the structure has been a timeless masterpiece, showcasing the beauty and inspiration of modern design. Be our guest on a special tour, where you can sit in the Dows' furniture, walk in their footsteps, and immerse yourself in the beauty of their home—a 20,000 square foot complex and arrhitectural studio.

Upon opening the front door to this unconventional world, you begin to wonder how and why you are at once filled with possibilities. The reception area soars as natural light bounces off the vibrant colors of the home's interior and makes its way down to the Floating Conference Room, situated just eighteen inches above the level of the indoor pond.

Though only one street off Midland's Main Street, you'll feel as if you're in another world. Join us for a tour of this one-of-a-kind architectural wonder February through December. To ensure the best possible tour experience, reservations are required to keep the group size intimate. Call or visit www.abdow.org for tour dates and available times.

A 3-acre garden that slopes gently to the shore of Lake Linton. Weeping cherry trees, authentic stone lanterns, hand-crafted bamboo gates, and an arching vermillion bridge over a winding stream. Experience the serenity and simple beauty of Saginaw's own lapanese Cultural Center and Tea House, where a whole new world of experiences awaits.

Built in 1985 as a collaborative effort between the City of Saginaw and its sister city. Tokushma, Japan, the Japanese Cultural Center rests partly on American soil and partly on Japanese soil. Treasured as one of the most authentic teahouses in all of North America, Saginaw's Japanese Cultural Center is a focal point for arts and culture in the Great Lakes Bay Region.

Stroll through the garden paths free of charge or explore the Tea House with a "Tea & Tour" for only $3. A trained docent will guide your Tea House experience, explaining the history of the Tea Ceremony, as well as the construction of the sukya (rustic) structure with Japanese hand tools. A presentation of traditionally prepared green tea and sweets completes this authentic experience.

Tea ceremonies are presented on the second Saturday of each month at 2 pm throughout the year. Please call 989.759.1648 for reservations or to schedule a special private ceremony for your group. Visit Saginav's own Japanese Cultural Center and Tea House and help us fulfill our mission," to promote intercultural understanding and peace through a bowl of tea."

Charles W. Howard Santa Claus School

Sometimes, even Santa can learn a thing or two about Christmas. That's why, each year, dozens of holiday hopefuls from across the country come by car, bus, plane, or reindeer to visit Midland's own Charles W. Howard (CWH) Santa Claus School.

Established in 1937, the CWH Santa Claus School is an Internationally recognized Santa School—the longest continuously running Santa Claus School in the world, to be exact. As a non-profit organization, the school's mission is to preserve the traditions and history of Santa Claus, while providing students with the necessary tools to further define and improve their individual presentations of Santa Claus.

At the Charles W. Howard Santa Claus School, life is not all cookies and milk. Students learn everything from Santa Sign Language to proper beard maintenance. These prospective present-givers are also taught the history of Saint Nicholas, proper etiquette for media appearances, and even child psychology.

As Charles W. Howard, founder of the esteemed Santa Claus School once said, "He errors who thinks Santa enters through the chimney. Santa enters through the heart." This philosophy is still carried out in the Midland school today by its current Dean, Thomas Valent, who continues to ensure that Santa Claus is always coming to town.

PLAY

FRESH AIR & FAMILY FUN

Sometimes, our lives get so busy that we forget to stop and play. In Michigan's Graet Lakes Bay Region, you'll discover again how to get to that place...the one where we kick off our shoes and run barefoot on the sand...roll up our pant legs and splash in the water...eat handpicked berries straight from the vine, and trace our footprints back through a freshly fallen snow. So dive in, dig in, and just plain play...in Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region.

In Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, we're all for getting out into nature and forging your own path... with a little help. That help comes in the form of dozens of trails found throughout the region, most of which began as abandoned railroad corndor. As part of an effort by the Great Lakes Bay Regional Trail Committee, plans are being made to connect the existing regional trails. Once completed, the Great Lakes Bay Regional Trail will be close to a 100-mile system, giving walkers, runners, cyclists, and skaters full access to the region's natural beauty. The Great Lakes Bay Regional Trail will be obtain to work with the region's existing points of interest, including parks and recreational facilities. In the meantime, we're sure you'll enjoy exploring the variety of existing rail trails throughout our region.

BAY AREA RIVERWALK/RAIL TRAIL:

This interconnected ITS mle network of pedestrian walkways provides non-motorized, handicap accessible pathways inking the full range of our community landscapes. The Bay Area Riverwallv/Rail Trail travels from Bay City's niverfront at Veteran's Memorial Park to the City's center, and back out again through woodlands and marshet to areas of Portsmouth, Hampton, and Bangor Townships. Our most recent trail extension links the Bay City loop northwesterly to the Bay City State Recreation Area. Convenient parking is available throughout the area and is clearly marked on all trail maps.

PERE MARQUETTE RAIL TRAIL:

This 30-mile-long by 14-foot-wide nibbon of asphalt paves the way to Midland's community hotspots, beginning at the Farmers Market in Downtown Midland and extending to Clare. While traveling on the Pere Marquette Rail Trail, you'll have access to a vanety of city and county parks, as well as historical sites and scenic natural areas. This fully accessible trail also provides opportunities for outdoor recreation, including hiking, biking, in-line skating, and cross country skiing.

SAGINAW VALLEY RAIL TRAIL:

This 9.2 mile trail edges Saginaw's southern boundary, providing serene landscapes and scenic views. From the trailhead, you'll notice bountiful displays of wildflowers, along with interpretive signs identifying many species and adding a personal touch to your trail experience.

With a lush canopy of trees along the trail and 3 pocket parks complete with gazebos and benches, the Saginaw Valley Rail Trail lends itself to trips that are both relaxing and exhilarating. The last half of the Saginaw Valley Rail Trail skirts the Shiawassee State Game Area, giving you access to some of the region's best wildlife viewing.

You already know how much fun you can have in the open outdoors. Now imagine what you can do at one of the nation's largest private, non-profit nature centers!

Open to the public yearround, this center provides fresh air and fun-filled learning for children and adults through every season. Continuing its mission to help people enjoy and learn about the environment. Chippewa Nature Center offers a variety of programs to area families and visitors, including Nature Day Camps and special programs on topics including birding, archaeology, and homestead

Stroll Chippewa Nature Center's 1,348 acres of woodlands, wetlands, and rivers on over 15 miles of secinic trails. Enjoy a variety of seasonal sports, including hiking, snowshoeing, and cross-country sking. Whichever way you choose to experience Midland's Chippewa Nature Center, you're sure to enjoy the striking landscapes and unique wildlife that surround you.

Dow Gardens is your gateway to experiencing all of nature's bestkept secrets and hidden treasures. This 110-acre expanse of stunning garden landscape brings to life the beauty of each season, showcasing the region's most spectacular display of trees, flowers, and other natural wonders.

Over the past century, Dow Gardens has expanded from an original 8-acre plot developed by Herbert H. Dow in 1899 to a 110-acre spread of astounding natural beauty. However, one thing has remained the same— Herbert Dow's original philosophy to "never reveal the gardens" whole beauty at first plance:"

Discover for yourself Dow Gardens' seasonal splendor, from the freshest spring bulbs to the most brilliant fall colors. Summer brings over 20,000 whrant tulips into bloom, while writter transforms the gardens into a sparkling white wonderland with a lush display of plants and poinsettias in the conservatory.

With an interactive Children's Garden for blossoming nature lovers and unique new events like the Festival of the Senses beer & wine tasting in the gardens, there is truly something for all ages to admire at Dow Gardens.

WeZOO!

Lions and tigers and.... penguins? Oh my! Wildlife from around the world comes before your eyes in all forms at Saginaw's own Children's Zoo at Celebration Square.

As one of only 5 AZA (Association of Zoos & Aquariums) accredited zoos in Michigan, the Children's Zoo at Celebration Square makes learning about wildlife exciting and accessible! You'll find over 150 different types of animals, ranging from small creatures to large Clydesdale horses.

Watch for our feathered friends walking the beautiful gardens and walkways as you wind your way through the zoo, and be sure to take part in our hands-on experiences with the llamas, goats, cows, and sheep.

Monkey around with the Capuchin Monkeys, dip into excitement with our Black-Footed Penguins, and hop over to the Eastern Grey Kangaroo exhibit. Go ahead... go wild!

Children of all ages will enjoy over 16,000 square feet of gallery space that makes up the brilliant world of the Mid-Michigan

Children's Museum. Here, kids can laugh, learn, grow, and play among IT continuing exhibit galleries, discovering that knowledge and fun go hand-in-hand.

A visit to the Museum gives families a unique experience, since it's one of the only nuseums in Mid-Michigan proviling a handston environment catered to children under 12. With galleries and experiences tied directly to school curriculums, the Mid-Michigan Children's Museum is a strong component of the region's cultural experience.

SAVOR

GREAT LAKES BAY FLAVOR

From the luxury of fine dining to the best bar food around, Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region has a place for every taste. Sure, we have your familiar favorites, but we've also got restaurants, pubs, and cafés with a flair so unique it screams, "Bet you can't find me anywhere else!"

Take a bite out of a mouthwatering burger at one of our downtown sports pubs, enjoy a light lunch in the quiet of a cozy cafe, or experience true gourmet cuisine at one of our upscale dining locations. Any way you slice it, Great Lakes Bay means great taste.

Fall Fresh Local farmers markets bring the pick of the peck to the table

This is more than your average roadside stand. It's an invitation to join us under our tents and truly experience fresh. Like a peck of juicy canning tomatoes. Pumpkins for pies. Peppers for pickling. Squash so buttery and yellow, you won't believe your eyes... or your taste buds.

It's what we like to call fresh thinking, but that doesn't mean we're new to the market. For over 100 years, farmers have been selling their produce directly to locals and passers-by alike through farmers markets within the region. The Downtown Saginaw Farmers Market (DSFM), which originated in 1910 on Saginaw's Federal Avenue, has since moved and expanded, but has kept its roots strong in the heart of the city. Since 1992, with the help of the PRIDE in Saginaw organization, the DSFM has grown from a few select market days throughout the season to a full-blown feast of sights, smells, and, of course, impeccable flavors.

Today, the DSFM opens its tent to the tables and wagons of over 50 vendors and operates 4 days a week, with the season beginning in late Nay and extending through late October. Also open at during late summer and early fall are the Midland Area Farmers Market, Downtown Bay City Farmers Market, Downtown Bay City Farmers Market and the Frankenmuth Farmers Market, all of which feature a prime selection of fresh produce, plants and flowers, and freshly baked goods.

Great Lakes Bay Region Farmers Markets are about more than selling produce. Many of these local markets are proud to support Project FRESH, a program designed to make fresh produce available to low-income and nutritionally-strisk consumers through Michigan's farmers markets.

Bring a friend, bring your family, but mostly bring your appetite, because there's nothing quite like a crisp, red Michigan apple, fresh veggies by the basket, bushel, and barrel, or piping hot soups with so many homegrown ingredients, you'll never go near a can again. It's all here in our Great Lakes Bay Region Farmers Markets, just waiting to be picked...

Locally grown

Great Lakes Bay Region farmers remind us again and again why the best stuff on earth
comes right from our own neck of the woods

Great food doesn't start in the kitchen. It starts in the earth, and in the hands of the thousands of farmers who make Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region an ideal place to experience all the homegrown goodness that is Pure Michigan.

That's why it's no wonder agriculture contributes over $71 billion annually to the Michigan economy, with the state being home to more than $5,000 farms. In Michigan, perfect produce is a true labor of love, since more than $95% of farms within the state are individually or family owned.

In Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, value of production is nearly $269 million, with over 300,000 acres of land used for agricultural production.

Here in the Great Lakes Bay, we've got agriculture in the bag. As one of the top producers of beans, corn, and beets, Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region farmers combine innovation with traditional techniques to bring the best stuff on earth to the table.

As if the Great Lakes Bay Region's agricultural track record weren't sweet enough, the region is home to Michigan Sugar Company, the only sugar beet factory east of the Mississipir River. As the producer of "Locally Grown, Locally Owned" favorites, Pioneer Sugar and Big Chief Sugar, Michigan Sugar Company is the third largest sugarbeet processor in the United States, producing nearly one billion pounds of sugar annually.

In Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, we believe that a little fresh thinking goes a long away. So join us in a place where we bring great things to the table, by the bushel, the barrel, or even by the billion!

Since 1928, Frankemmuth has been talking chicken. Not just any chicken. The world-famous kind. With two of the nation's Top 100 restaurants, Zehnder's of Frankenmuth and Bavarian Inn Restaurant, Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region is cooking up something spectacular.

Amenca's largest family-owned restaurant, Zehnder's, has been developing a tradition of taste and quality for decades. So it's no wonder why this dining destination has become an icon for family togetherness and one-of-a-kind flavor, serving nearly a million guests each year.

Those who come to experience the Zehnder tradition don't just come to dine. They come for the exceptional service and charm that make Zehnder's Restaurant a worldwide attraction.

Unbelievably, the legacy for world dass family-style dining doesn't end here. Frankenmuth is also home to the Bavarian Inn Restaurant. Initially founded as the Union House Hotel in 1888, the Bavarian Inn Restaurant has since grown within its traditional stucco walls and woodcarvings into a dining empire full of culture and culinary excellence. Many Frankenmuth natives credit Tiny and Dorothy Zehnder, who developed the Restaurant from a small venture into a regional and national gem, with the transformation of Frankenmuth into "Michigan's Little Bavaria." Since the purchase of the restaurant in 1950, Dorothy herself has routinely worked six days a week, developing most of the famous recipes and teaching thousands of employees the Bavarian Inn Restaurant way. Her motto? "If you don't feel well, go to work, and pretty soon vou'll feel better?"

FRANKENMUTH BAVARIAN INN

Theodore Fischer, a former bartender at the Exchange Hotel (now Zehnder's Restaurant), established the Union House Hotel In 1868. His son, Herman, and daughter-In-law, Lydia, are said to have begun the tradition of the 'All You Can Eat' family-style chicken dinners served here. The William Zehnder, Sr., family, distant relatives of Fischer, purchased the restaurant in 1950 and continued the chicken dinner tradition. In 1959 the Zehnders extensively renovated, enlarged and redecorated the restaurant in a fantasy Bavarian motif. They also changed the hume of the restaurant to the Bavarian lin. The week-long grand opening celebration held in 1999 in honor of the new addition evolved into the annual frankenship Bavarian F (1941).

Whether you're a quick and clever bargain hunter, a marrathon shop-a-holic searching for the best designer brands, or a firm believer that one man's trash is another man's treasure, we've got shopping that's just your style.

Ever felt the rush of shopping 145 brand-name outlet stores, all in one location? Of course you haven't. But that's the beauty of Birch Run Premium Outlets, the Midwests largest outlet mail. Conveniently located in the Great Lakes Bay Region off of I-75, this expansive collection of stores brings the brand names to your bag, all at discounts of up to 65%.

If making the old new again is more your style, Bay City is home to Michigan's largest antique mart, Bay Antique Center, filled with timeless treasures and pieces just waiting to be brought back to life. Saginaw's own Antique Warehouse complements this journey perfectly, with over 70 antique dealers.

For a more quaint shopping experience, Midland's Center City and downtown Bay City's shopping district bring unique boutiques together with one-of-a-kind dining.

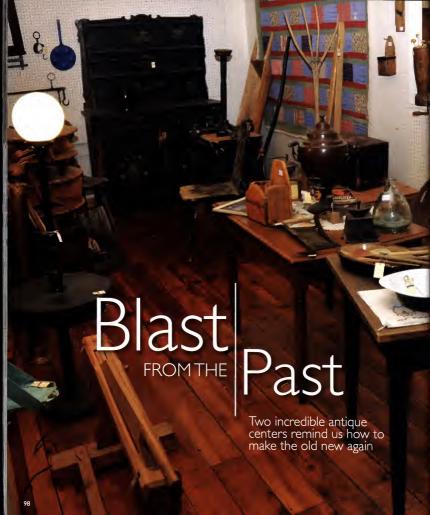

Birch Run Premium Outlets

Why just shop one store, when you can shop over 145 brand-name outlets, all at one location? Birch Run Premium Outlets, the Midwest's largest outlet mall, makes shopping in the Great Lakes Bay Region an experience unlike any other.

Conveniently located off of I-75 in the heart of Birch Run, the Birch Run Premium Outlets minimizes prices while maximizing your shopping experience. Shop your familiar favorites or newest finds, all at discounts of up to 65% off regular retail price.

The Outlets are home to everything from designer brands like Banana Republic, BCRG Max Azna, and Coach to triet-and-true flavorites like Gap, Old Nay, and The North Face. One look around, and you'll find Birth Run Premium Outlets has fashions not only for your closet, but for your entire home! Browse the latest appliances at Black & Docker or Chef's Outlet, or take your home decor to the next level at Pottery Barn. No matter which stores you choose to visit, we know you'll be glad you came to the one outlet mall that has it all!

BAY ANTIQUE CENTER

Revered as the largest and finest antique mart in Michigan, Bay Antique Center is a vintage haven filled with every fabulous find you can imagine. The block-long showroom that is Bay Antique Center is known for its unique merchandise, and especially for the charismatic, knowledgeable dealers who offer it. Magical memorabilia, authentic Victorian furniture, fine glassware, and vintage clothing and jewelry line the halls, walls, and shelves, proving that some things truly never go out of style. Over 100 quality dealers call Bay Antique Center home, bringing with them a zest for rediscovering the value in old treasures. Track down the perfect pair of vintage earnings, refinish and revive a stunning piece of aged furniture, or fill in missing puzzle piece to your existing collection.

THE SAGINAW ANTIQUE WAREHOUSE

Whether you're a collector with a discerning eye for the antique buy, or a casual shopper with a knack for bringing back items from the past, you'll see it all unfold before you here at The Saginaw Antique Warehouse. What began in 1982 as a small, 9-dealer operation has since grown into a 20,000 square foot haven of antiques. Today, The Saginaw Antique Warehouse features 70 quality antique dealers, offering furniture, glassware, collectibles, jewelry, and much more. While you shop, stop into the Memory Lane Café for a delicious variety of soups, salads, and sandwiches.

Connecting Our Region

Investment in people and communities around the world is vital to the success of our company. It means investing in our people by providing good jobs with competitive compensation and benefits. It also means investing in the communities in which we operate — be it through philanthropic giving or engaging employees in volunteerism initiatives. Recognizing the connection between success of our communities and the success of our company is one of the reasons why we have been around for generations, and why we'll be here for many more to come.

AT&T invests significant resources to advance education, strengthen communities like Michigan's Great Lakes Bay Region, and improve lives. Through philanthropic invities and collaboration, AT&T and the AT&T Foundation support projects that create opportunities, make connections and address community needs where we — and our customers — live and work.

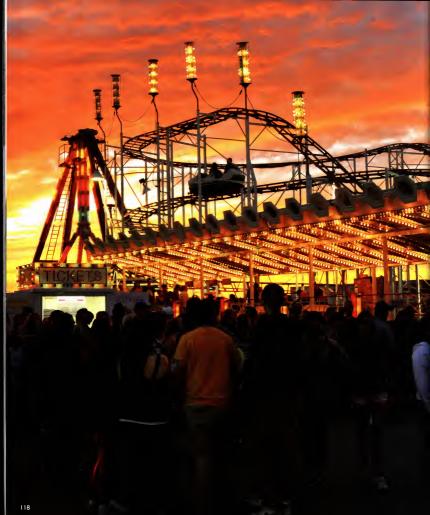

Volunteerism is ingrained in AT&T's culture. For almost 100 years, we have been donating our time and talents to support underserved populations and strengthen our communities. Each year, approximately 325,000 of our employees and retirees take time to enhance their communities as AT&T Ploneers, one of the largest industry-sponsored volunteer organizations in the country. In 2009, the AT&T Ploneers and other employees and employee groups donated more than 8.5 million hours of time to community outreach activities.

To lay a new foundation from which to grow AT&T employee volunteerism, the company launched AT&T Cares in July 2009. AT&T Cares is a comprehensive, company-wide volunteer initiative designed to provide options for how employees volunteer, while encouraging them to engage, and remain engaged, in community service that is meaningful to them and their communities. We launched an AT&T Cares website to encourage employees to join individual, group and company-wide volunteer initiatives. In the site's first six months, it received nearly 90,000 visits from employees eager to get involved.
